ADMISSION.

For admission to the Freshman Class, the candidates are examined in the ıole of Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, and Sallust ; Jacobs's Greek Reader, d the four Gospels of the Greek Testament ; Adam's Latin Grammar, Gould's lition, and the Gloucester Greek Grammar, Cambridge edition, both including osody, (Buttmann's and Fisk's Greek Grammars are also received ;) writing atin and Greek ; Lacroix's Arithmetic, Cambridge edition ; Euler's Algebra, inted also at Cambridge ; " Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by E. Worcester."

It is very desirable and important that the candidates should be well and corctly prepared, particularly in grammatical and elementary knowledge. If ey have more time than is requisite for this purpose, Instructers are desired id advised, for obvious reasons, not to anticipate the College studies, but ther to extend their studies to other authors.

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is the first Thursday the summer vacation. Those who are necessarily prevented from offering emselves at that time, may be examined on the Friday of Commencement eek. If any one be admitted after the second week of the first term, he ill be considered as admitted to advanced standing.

No person will be examined for admission to College, at any other time than t the close or commencement of a term, except in extraordinary cases.

Parents and instructers are requested not to offer candidates for examination, hen it is not their intention that, if admitted, they shall immediately join the lass ; and the Faculty will, for the future, decline entering on the examination f candidates under such circumstances.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at ny part of the College course previous to the Second Term of the Senior year. n order to such admission, the candidate, in addition to the requisites for the reshman Class, must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies f the class which he proposes to enter. He will also be examined in the whole course, including the preparatory studies. He must also pay into the reasury, at the rate of $15 per term, according to the standing to which he s admitted. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the same standing, if on examination he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only : Provided that such persons have a good moral character ; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require ; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence, good conduct, and College discipline.

Graduates of any public College or University, also persons sufficiently acquainted with the Greek and Latin languages, and otherwise qualified to the satisfaction of the Faculty, are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Dean of the Faculty of Theology.

Medical Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures at t Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the De of the Faculty of Medicine, on or before the third Tuesday in October.

Every person, before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the U versity, must exhibit proper testimonials of a good moral character.

COMMENCEMENT is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical ye is divided into three TERMS and three VACATIONS: — the first Vacation is two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; t second is of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the thi embraces the six weeks next preceding Commencement.

The Public Exhibitions are on the third Tuesday of October, and on t second Tuesday and the last Monday of the Third Term.

LAW SCHOOL.

The design of this Institution is to afford a complete course of legal educ tion for gentlemen destined for the bar in the different parts of the Unit States, and also elementary instruction for gentlemen not destined for the b but yet desirous of qualifying themselves for public life or for commerc business. The various branches of public and constitutional law, the comm law, and admiralty, maritime, and equity law, are taught, with occasional illu trations of foreign law.

The school is under the immediate superintendence and direction of M Greenleaf, Royall Professor of Law in the University. Mr. Justice Stor Dane Professor of Law in the University, resides in Cambridge, and during t intervals of his judicial duties assists in its superintendence. The Dane Pr fessor gives instruction in the principal branches of maritime, commerci equity, and constitutional jurisprudence. The Royall Professor gives instructi in the Common Law, and all the other juridical studies. In every we during the term, there are at least six private Lectures and usually more ; which the students are examined in their respective studies, and oral e planations and illustrations are given by the Professors. The private Lectur are on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Public writte Lectures are also occasionally delivered hy the Professors upon the more impo tant topics of Jurisprudence. The Academic year commences in the beginni of September.

There are three terms and three vacations in the year, corresponding wi those of the undergraduates.

Students may generally be accommodated with rooms in Graduates' Ha a spacious building erected principally for their use, or in the College buil ings, upon the same terms as undergraduates, and may, if they choose, boa in Commons as Resident Graduates, at the rate of $1.90 per week. The fe for instruction are $100 per annum, for which the students have the use lecture-rooms, the Library, and the privilege of attending all the public lectur of the University gratis ; with the opportunity for instruction in the moder languages on the payment of $10 per annum for each language studie

No previous examination is necessary for admission ; hut every student wi be expected to bring from his parents or friends a certificate of his good charac ter and some general statement of his previous studies. Bonds are require for the payment of all dues to the College.

Constant residence in Cambridge is not deemed indispensable ; it is sufficien if attendance is given at the regular hours prescribed for lectures, examina tions, and study.

Instruction is given for any stated periods which may suit the convenienc of students, but without subdividing any of the terms.

The students have the use of the Law Library, which is kept in Dane Law ollege, and contains at present upwards of thirty-five hundred volumes, and ess to the general Library of the University, containing about thirty-six thou- id volumes. They are furnished with all the books used as class-books, except iere they prefer to supply themselves, as they frequently will, for the purpose making references and notes, with a view to future study and practice.

In addition to the course of reading, the students occasionally write disserta- ns upon subjects of law. Once in every week a moot court is held before e of the Professors, at which in rotation four of the students argue some law se, which is previously given out, so that they may make suitable preparation; d at the close of the arguments the Professor delivers his own opinion, com- enting upon the doctrines maintained on each side.

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is conferred by the University on students io have completed the regular term of professional studies required by the ws or rules in the State to which they belong, eighteen months thereof having en passed in the Law School of this Institution.

Course of Study.

The books marked thus (*) compose the course which is completed in two ars. The studies of gentlemen who remain longer in the School are pursued the remaining books in the regular course, to which others are added from ne to time, as far as the leisure and progress of the students may permit. he parallel course is prescribed chiefly for private reading.

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

STATUTES RELATING TO THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF MEDICINE.

I. — The Faculty of Medicine of this University shall consist of the President, and of the Professors and Lecturers authorized to give instruction to the medical students. This Faculty shall always have a Dean elected by themselves, for such periods as they may think proper, and may also adopt rules for their own government, provided that the same do not, in any respect, contravene the laws of the University.

II. — Students of medicine, designing to attend the Medical Lectures, or any of them, shall be matriculated in this University, by entering their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, to be enrolled by him; and by signing an obligation to submit to the laws of the University, and to the direction of the Faculty of Medicine.

III. — There shall be holden by the Faculty four meetings annually for the purpose of examining candidates for the degree in Doctor of Medicine. Two of these meetings shall be for private and two for public examinations. They shall be holden in the Massachusetts Medical College, unless otherwise specially ordered.
